

SALVANA EUKALICKS

Palatable, relieving calf lick

In an ideal world, calves would prefer a light and fresh air environment. In reality we find dark, damp and dusty calf housing mostly. Problems of the respiratory tract and coughing diseases are directly linked to suboptimal ventilated stalls, especially during the cold period. In times of changing climate or reduced air exchange rates, SALVANA EUKALICKS will relieve the respiratory tract.

High palatability ensures high voluntary intake

Essential oils relieve the respiratory tract

Vitalizing the calf with vitamins E and C

Rich content of minerals and trace elements

SALVANA EUKALICKS relieves the respiratory tract in stressful situations and in case of suboptimal ventilated stalls. Additionally, a balanced supply of essential micronutrients strengthens the body own resistance.
